An African Diaspora, One World, Pan African experience!

The second Mboka Festival of Arts, Culture and Sport takes place in The Gambia from 6 to 20 January 2018 organised by Camp Africa, Global Hands and SABLE Publications. Mboka means 'One Family' in Wolof and will offer festival go-ers a 14-day festival that celebrates Gambian cultural heritage alongside African diasporic cultural heritage.

About Mboka

The first Mboka Festival was held from 7-17 January 2017 with our guest of honour, award-winning Kenyan writer, Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o as we came in with the 'new dawn' in The Gambia. In 2018, we continue to celebrate and build towards a positive and peaceful future.

A fantastic evening of performance in poetry with Internationally Renowned Dub Poet LINTON KWESI JOHNSON and the stunning jazz poet from South Africa NATALIA MOLEBATSI with internationally renowned kora player TUNDE JEGEDE

credit Victor Dlamini

credit Sunara Begum

SATURDAY 13 JANUARY

Eburnan Theatre, Bakau (behind GFA)
Start Time: 20.00

Linton Kwesi Johnson, is known and revered as the world's first reggae poet. He became the first black poet to have his work included in Penguin's Modern Classics series, Mi Revalueshanary Fren: Selected Poems. He has released 14 albums, published five poetry books and runs his own record label, LKJ Records, and still regularly tours around the world with the Dennis Bovell Dub Band. He has received several awards and fellowships Natalia Molebatsi experiments with jazz and hip hop in her performance poetry. Her CDs, Come as you are: Poems for Four Strings and Natalia Molebatsi & The Soul Making are a fusion of poetry and a variety of music styles. She has performed poetry and facilitated creative writing workshops across Africa, Europe and the USA.

Tunde Jegede, world-renowned composer, producer, cellist and kora virtuoso brings a new vision to contemporary African and Western classical music. His work is a unique synthesis of classical, jazz and traditional music and embodies the legacy of the idiom; African Classical Music.

DAY 2 - SUNDAY 7 JAN

Best "Fanal" and Masquerade Competition

Fanals are luminous boats and lanterns, a once vibrant end of year practice in the Kombos, now at the risk of dying out. This is a New Year's parade and prize-winning competition for fanals, preceded by masquerades, followed by fireworks/live entertainment. The fanal custom offers a wonderful opportunity to promote and celebrate The Gambia's rich cultural heritage. Masquerades are also found in the Kombos but seldom have the opportunity to perform and be seen by a wide audience. It's a fabulous end of year cultural spectacle.

Senegambia Strip | 20.00 | Gate: Free

DAY 7 - FRIDAY 12 JAN

International Junior Chef of the Year Competition

Organised with the Chef Association, The Gambia. The aim is to discover new culinary talents who also consider issues of local sourcing of food products and the overall sustainable consumption practices within the hospitality industry. One of the best ways to experience local culture is to taste the national dishes of the country and other international dishes given new creative twists with local ingredients. It creates employment opportunities for local farmers and encourages competition for the food sector to improve its performance. An invitation to experience the results of the competition in a fundraising dinner.

Senegambia Hotel | Time: 20.00 | Gate: TBC
Organised by Camp Africa

(See New Dawn programme on page 8. These two events have now been rolled into one! for a fantastic launch of the International Fairs!)

International literary festival, good food fair and book fair: 13 Jan– 18 Jan

International Book Fair includes Timbooktoo Bookshop, SABLE Publications, Global Hands, Numbi Arts, Sierra Leone Writers Series and Amalion Publishing. "Good Market" at Senegambia Beach Hotel is an organic farmer's market. It has excellent potential not only to revolutionise the organic food sector in the Gambia but also encourage an increase in interest from the international eco consumer market. Few thriving eco consumer sectors are complete in the world without a flourishing farmers' market. The Gambia, is no less in need of such a vital social, cultural and economic asset to stimulate the growth of responsible and green consumerism in the country.

Honouring our Literary Ancestors

An evening of celebration to honour the life and achievements of our literary ancestors Buchi Emecheta, Dr. Raphina Philott Almeida and Mr Musa Jallow

Visiting women writers and Gambian based women writers offer, readings, songs and performances for Dr. Buchi Emecheta. Special guest, Sylvester Onwordi (eldest son of Buchi Emecheta). GamWriters, family and friends offer readings and tributes for Dr. Raphina Philott Almeida and Mr Musa Jallow. With musicians and praise singers

credit: Sable LitMag

Dr. Buchi Emecheta

Born in Lagos in 1944, Buchi Emecheta rose from humble roots to become an international writer and academic. As a teenage immigrant in 1960s Britain and the single mother of five children, she struggled against poverty and the racism of the time to complete a degree in Sociology and fulfil her girlhood ambition of becoming a full time novelist. She is the author of over 20 publications, and in a career spanning thirty years received several prestigious awards, most notably the Order of the British Empire (OBE) in 2005, for her contribution to literature. She died in 2017

Dr. Raphina Philott Almeida studied at SOAS under the tutelage of the noted and pioneer historian of Africa, late Professor Roland Oliver. In 1972, she completed a Master of Arts Degree in Advanced History, Sociology and Political Science, at the University of Birmingham's Centre of West African. She studied under the tutorship/mentorship of the late Professor John D. Fage another pioneer of African studies in Britain. She obtained her PhD from the American University in 2014. Dr Ralphina Almeida taught at Armitage High School in Janjanbureh, St. Joseph's and St. Augustine's High Schools in Banjul, Yundum College and University of the Gambia. She also had an illustrious career in the Gambia's civil service.

Musa Jallow has published two major works of fiction and non-fiction which have found a pride of place in the shelves and hearts of many readers, at home and abroad. In 2000, he published the first edition of Across the Scenes, a short novel about youth exuberance, obsolesces, and anger in modern day Gambia. The book was approved as a supplementary reading text for Gambian schools. He produced three different versions of this novel for kindergarten, secondary and adult readers. He was the first Gambian author to launch his books in the provinces. In 2014, he wrote Yahya Jammeh's Moving Legacy, a hagiography enumerating the 'numerous' development projects of the ousted Gambian despot. He was a founding and active member of WAG. Musa Jallow was a novelist of great substance Taken from the obituary by Hassoum Ceesay

Kankurang and Masquerade Festival

Janjanbureh is well known to be the birthplace of the Kankurang masquerade in the Gambia. The Kankurang masquerade tradition forms an integral part of Mandinka initiatory rites and rituals. The term Kankurang is a combination of the Mandinka words "kango" and "Kurango" which literally translate as "voice" and "enforce", respectively. These terms could be said to refer to the empowerment of the voice in order to enforce the rules set by members of Mandinka society. In essence, the Kankurang is a central figure in a complex ritual system which comprises traditional practices linked to the initiation of young people and the protection of society and the environment.

Responsible Tourism Seminar on Monitoring the SDGs (Part 1)

 Postponed to 24 April

Contact us for further information ***

The UN General Assembly declared the year 2017 as the International Year of Sustainable Tourism for Development to foster environmental conservation and economic growth.

The 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, adopted by world leaders in the September 2015 UN summit, officially came into force on 1 January 2016. The main goal of the workshop is to transform the theoretical blueprint of agenda 2030 to a substantive, practical and progressive direction that can provide us with the monitoring tools to guarantee an inclusive world free from poverty, exploitation and injustice. In practical terms this seminar will define how we can walk the talk and also keep track of progress using the right monitoring tools.
